The NSS students started building rapport with the students and tried to find the deficit areas where the child needs their help.

Sassy Writing Competition

4 September 2017

Youth are the strongest channel for any country to make any campaign successful. The only thing which is needed is to sensitize them towards their roles and responsibilities. To sensitize the students towards cleanliness and to elicit the innovative ideas from the students for maintaining cleanliness and hygiene, an Essay Writing Competition was held in the IISU campus. The theme of the competition was 'How to Keep India Clean'. A total of 56 NSS students of group D participated in the competition. Students penned down their own innovative ideas for keeping India clean. Some had written about what initiatives should be taken by the government, few of them wrote about how the public should share the responsibility and suggested not to just blame and expect everything from the government.

Individual Literacy Partnership in Hajiyawala School

11 September 2017

A total of 72 students of NSS of The IIS University visited the Hajiyawala government primary school to conduct Individual Literacy Partnership programme. There were 64 students (class I to V) in the Hajiyawala government primary school. Only two teachers recruited by the government, including the Principal, somehow managed to handle five classes by clubbing all the classes together while teaching. It is against the teaching-learning provisions made under RTEA, 2009. It also dilutes the quality of learning by the students. To find a solution to this problem, each student of the school was allotted to two NSS volunteers who assisted him/her in learning. They maintained a register for their students to work on the deficit areas of all the subjects and prepare them for the assessment planned after two months.

Individual Literacy Partnership and demonstration on Hand Wash Activity in Hajiyawala Government School

18 September 2017

This Individual Literacy Partnership programme was based on the principle that every child is unique and they learn on their own pace. This raises a need to develop an Individualized education plan for each child and it is not possible for two teachers to plan for 62 students. So 50 NSS volunteers were asked to find the deficit areas and make IEP on the basis of need and interest of the child.

Simultaneously, few NSS volunteers were demonstrating the Hand Wash Activity in every class one by one. NSS volunteers had bought the soap, tub and towel from their home. In the beginning they discussed with the students about why should we wash our hands before and after eating and then demonstrated how to wash. Then they asked the students to stand in line and wash their hands one by one. All children enjoyed the activity and promised to practice it regularly.

Annual Play 'RUSTOM-O-SOHRAB' - Workshop and Showcase

22nd August - 26th September 2017

The IISU Theatrical Societies Annual Play workshop commenced on 22nd August 2017 under the supervision of Mr. Hardik Shah. This year the theme of the annual play was Persian with environmental stage.

Persian theatre became popular in Iran in 7th century AD, long before the advent of cinema. Few of the well-known Parsi Plays are - Ru Howzi (comical acts on domestic life), Pardeh Dari (screen based storytelling), Pardeh-khaani (mobile singing, storytelling read off a curtain).

The Parsi play shortlisted for the year 2017 was Rustom O Sohrab, an Urdu play by Agha Hashar Kashmiri. The tragedy of Rostam and Sohrab forms part of the 10th-century Persian epic Shahnameh by the Persian poet Ferdowsi. It tells the tragic story of the heroes Rostam and his son, Sohrab. It was first published in 1929.

The whole process of making this play was larger than life. With team of more than 26 actors(students) the practice of the play started with vigorous training in sword fighting, voice modulation exercise, music class, script reading, set designing, allocation of different props, lights and gym workout, Every step include learning, hard work, dedication, determination, conviction and management for completing each task perfectly. From beginning team was been divided into different departments like set designing, costume, museum, props, stage managers etc. In short the creation of the whole play involved a process informed by method, aesthetic choice and economic context, as well as practical aspects.

Preparation for the War

Date : 6th September, 2017

Venue : Kamla Nehru Nagar

The members of The IISU THEATERICAL SOCIETY went to HORSE RIDING SCHOOL for learning this new skill.

Riding horse certainly seems to set us apart as a distant group. The school had 60 horses all English Breed. Students were given maximum 4 horses along with their trained personnel's. In groups of 4, each student was given 10 minutes ride accompanied by knowledgeable and hardworking trainers. Horse ridding has the power to take the riders away from everyday life and worries, yet at the same time keeps the riders grounded in the present. Trainers gave students useful information about horses, their breeds and their life expectancy.

Training in any field whether it's in a company, school, sports or performing arts moulds the thinking and leads to quality performance of students. It is continuous and never ending in nature. This trip helped the students in preparing the team for play on large scale. Team structure and role allocation for coordination and communication are very effective tool for building a good team performance.

Human beings naturally want to express themselves, and theatre is the most expressive art form. "This is why theatre is important: because it presents a reflective vision of a life that is vastly more fascinating and alluring than the one in which we're stuck." - Lemoney Snicket.

Batik printing techniques

27th march 2018

The Department of Fashion & Textiles undertook a one day extension work on 27th march 2018 with the purpose of skill enhancement of underprivileged Basti women of Bhatta basti, Shastri Nagar and nearby areas who are associated with the organization HUNAR.

HUNAR is an enterprise of slum women in Jaipur with a focus on the issues of social security, employment and gender justice of deprived communities. HUNAR especially works to upgrade the skills of women so they can get an exposure to new designs, new fabrics, and new techniques and get right wages for their work.

The department organized a Batik Printing programme to help the organization in its noble cause.

A group of 11 students with 2 faculty members conducted a training session for the women on batik printing for the women to learn new technique of embellishment to help them in their creativity.

Batik is a technique of wax-resist dyeing applied to either whole cloth or by drawing dots and lines of the resist with a spouted tool or by printing the resist with a copper stamp called a cap. The applied wax resists dyes and therefore allows the artisan to color selectively by soaking the cloth in one color, removing the wax with boiling water, and repeating if multiple colours are desired. One of the significant features of this art is that it is very simple and can be done by anyone. Colorful batik prints grace the home furnishings with elegance and style. Beautiful bags, household linens, murals and wall paintings with striking batik works enjoy a great demand in the domestic and international market.

The students started the demonstration with general introduction on the technique as well as on the process for application of resist. The ratios and quantities of the different wax was shown the ladies and the process for melting the three types of wax thus commenced. The ladies were then demonstrated different methods of application which involved all over application, spraying, block and free hand motifs. The ladies were given small fabric samples to create their own design and patterns of their choosing.

Individual Literacy Partnership in Hajiyawala School

11 September 2017

A total of 72 students of NSS of The IIS University visited the Hajiyawala government primary school to conduct Individual Literacy Partnership programme. There were 64 students (class I to V) in the Hajiyawala government primary school. Only two teachers recruited by the government, including the Principal, somehow managed to handle five classes by clubbing all the classes together while teaching. It is against the teaching-learning provisions made under RTEA, 2009. It also dilutes the quality of learning by the students. To find a solution to this problem, each student of the school was allotted to two NSS volunteers who assisted him/her in learning. They maintained a register for their students to work on the deficit areas of all the subjects and prepare them for the assessment planned after two months.

So 50 NSS volunteers were asked to find the deficit areas and make IEP on the basis of need and interest of the child.

Simultaneously, few NSS volunteers were demonstrating the Hand Wash Activity in every class one by one. NSS volunteers had bought the soap, tub and towel from their home. In the beginning they discussed with the students about why should we wash our hands before and after eating and then demonstrated how to wash. Then they asked the students to stand in line and wash their hands one by one. All children enjoyed the activity and promised to practice it regularly.

The IISU Theatrical Societies Annual Play workshop commenced on 22nd August 2017 under the supervision of Mr. Hardik Shah. This year the theme of the annual play was Persian with environmental stage.

Persian theatre became popular in Iran in 7th century AD, long before the advent of cinema. Few of the well-known Parsi Plays are - Ru Howzi (comical acts on domestic life), Pardeh Dari (screen based storytelling), Pardeh-khaani (mobile singing, storytelling read off a curtain).

The Parsi play shortlisted for the year 2017 was Rustom O Sohrab, an Urdu play by Agha Hashar Kashmiri. The tragedy of Rostam and Sohrab forms part of the 10th-century Persian epic Shahnameh by the Persian poet Ferdowsi. It tells the tragic story of the heroes Rostam and his son, Sohrab. It was first published in 1929.

The whole process of making this play was larger than life. With team of more than 26 actors(students) the practice of the play started with vigorous training in sword fighting, voice modulation exercise, music class, script reading, set designing, allocation of different props, lights and gym workout, Every step include learning, hard work, dedication, determination, conviction and management for completing each task perfectly. From beginning team was been divided into different departments like set designing, costume, museum, props, stage managers etc. In short the creation of the whole play involved a process informed by method, aesthetic choice and economic context, as well as practical aspects.

Date : 6th September, 2017

Venue : Kamla Nehru Nagar

The members of The IISU THEATERICAL SOCIETY went to HORSE RIDING SCHOOL for learning this new skill.

Riding horse certainly seems to set us apart as a distant group. The school had 60 horses all English Breed. Students were given maximum 4 horses along with their trained personnel's. In groups of 4, each student was given 10 minutes ride accompanied by knowledgeable and hardworking trainers. Horse ridding has the power to take the riders away from everyday life and worries, yet at the same time keeps the riders grounded in the present. Trainers gave students useful information about horses, their breeds and their life expectancy.

Training in any field whether it's in a company, school, sports or performing arts moulds the thinking and leads to quality performance of students. It is continuous and never ending in nature. This trip helped the students in preparing the team for play on large scale. Team structure and role allocation for coordination and communication are very effective tool for building a good team performance.

The Department of Fashion & Textiles undertook a one day extension work on 27th march 2018 with the purpose of skill enhancement of underprivileged Basti women of Bhatta basti, Shastri Nagar and nearby areas who are associated with the organization HUNAR.

HUNAR is an enterprise of slum women in Jaipur with a focus on the issues of social security, employment and gender justice of deprived communities. HUNAR especially works to upgrade the skills of women so they can get an exposure to new designs, new fabrics, and new techniques and get right wages for their work.

The department organized a Batik Printing programme to help the organization in its noble cause.

A group of 11 students with 2 faculty members conducted a training session for the women on batik printing for the women to learn new technique of embellishment to help them in their creativity.

Batik is a technique of wax-resist dyeing applied to either whole cloth or by drawing dots and lines of the resist with a spouted tool or by printing the resist with a copper stamp called a cap. The applied wax resists dyes and therefore allows the artisan to color selectively by soaking the cloth in one color, removing the wax with boiling water, and repeating if multiple colours are desired. One of the significant features of this art is that it is very simple and can be done by anyone. Colorful batik prints grace the home furnishings with elegance and style. Beautiful bags, household linens, murals and wall paintings with striking batik works enjoy a great demand in the domestic and international market.

The students started the demonstration with general introduction on the technique as well as on the process for application of resist. The ratios and quantities of the different wax was shown the ladies and the process for melting the three types of wax thus commenced. The ladies were then demonstrated different methods of application which involved all over application, spraying, block and free hand motifs. The ladies were given small fabric samples to create their own design and patterns of their choosing.
